I love teaching art because it has the power to impact the lives of others. Art has a therapeutic value that can heal everyone. It is the best way to express a strong message through visual culture. It helps the kids to unwrap their creativity. Art is everywhere, and it speaks more than words.

My work in the Vertical column

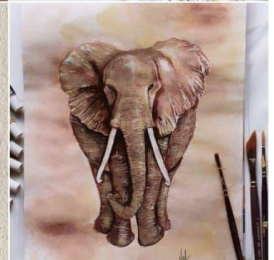

Art is all about exploring.... And teaching art has helped me and my students to explore the universe in our thoughts.

Teaching in an interactive environment brings out the best and gives me happiness, to have done justice to the belief that 'art is an expression'. I love teaching art. :)

I believe as Art educators we are the space where kids can just BE!
We are the tools they can use to express themselves.
Art breaks the hierarchy.
It is more like peer-to-peer learning.

I didn't want to be an educator, though art has been a huge part of my life. But today, I love teaching art because it lets the child's creativity to bloom. I noticed being part of an art-making community felt good in a way that working alone in the studio didn't and I thrived on the connections I made with students.
