Is Rothko's work any good?

Well he was an artist...

He was also an Art teacher

Kindergarten to grade 8

In the 1930s in Brooklyn

Lesson #1

Show your students that art is a universal form of expression, as elemental as speaking or singing

- Mark Rothko, Artist, Art educator 1930s

Lesson #2

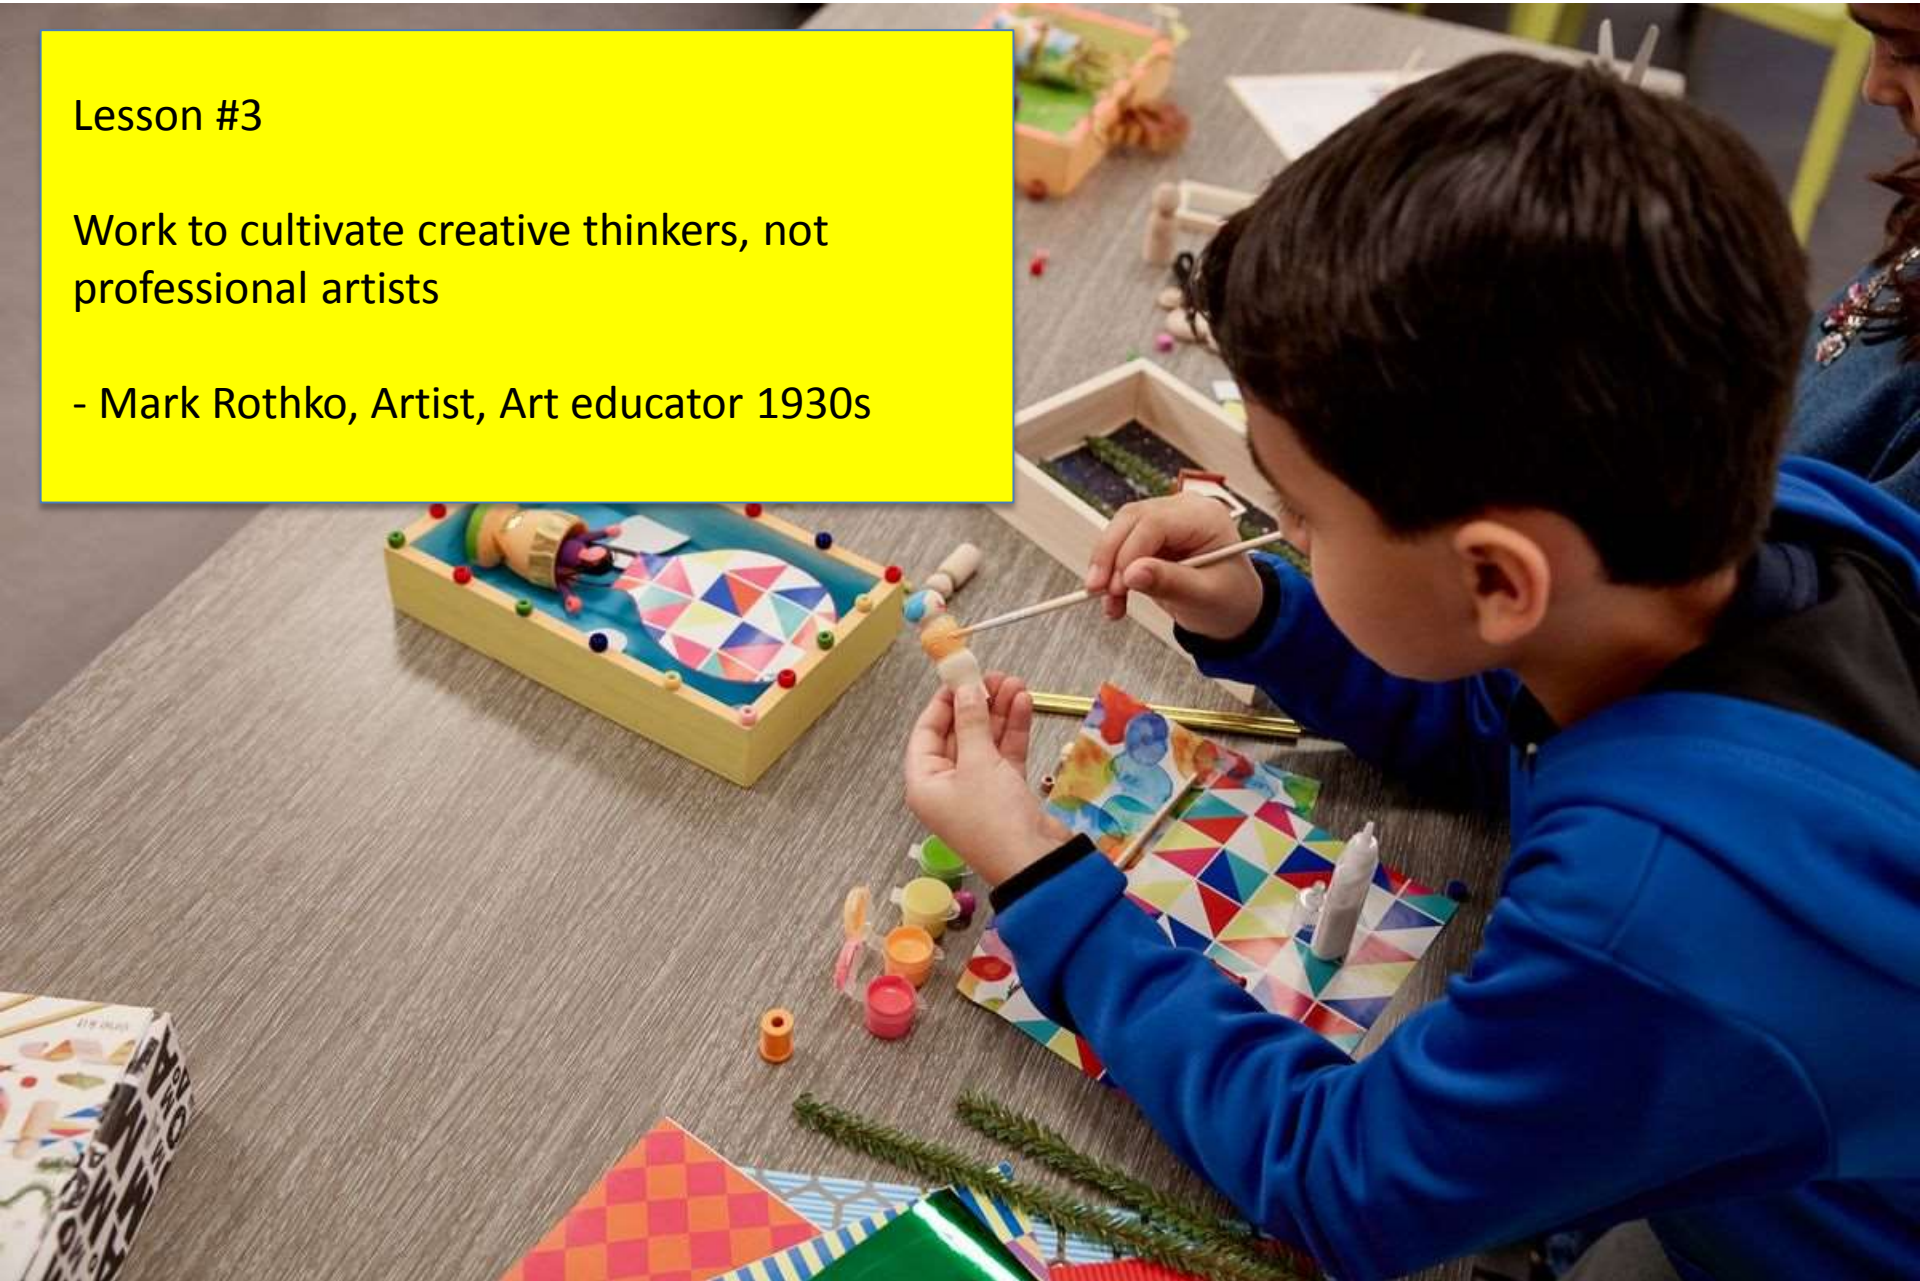

Stage exhibitions of your students' works to encourage their self-confidence

- Mark Rothko, Artist, Art educator 1930s

Lesson #3

Work to cultivate creative thinkers, not professional artists

- Mark Rothko, Artist, Art educator 1930s

A Toolkit for Art Educators to thrive in the Online Learning World

Our Speakers today –

Dr.Nigel Meager and Elise Gallinot Goldman

Join us from Spain and New Orleans to share their experience with teaching art in the “new normal”

In fact their ideas are fundamental and work across online and offline

We are honoured to hear from them (and Rothko)
